BBC Radio 4 Sunday (4mns 50)/ Christian Today

All news sites carry reports of London attack last night, which has left six people dead and nearly 50 injured. Dean of Southwark, Andrew Nunn, is interviewed on BBC Sunday, talking about the terror of the attack, the importance of prayer and the Church being a visible presence in these times. Christian Today focuses on those who are praying and quotes the Church of England tweet as the horror unfolded that it was "praying for the emergency services and all those in the London Bridge area" (also see message from Archbishop Justin and prayer - both below).
